The History of Devon-Aire Softball

In 1954, a new subdivision was started in a cow pasture in the shadow of The Wilson Barn, which is now a historical landmark.

The subdivision was called Devonshire Park. The first homes were occupied in early 1954 by young families whose initial delight in their new location turned to irritation as month upon month passed while numerous building complaints were being ignored by the contractors. For this reason, the Devonshire Park Civic Association was formed with about 100 members in October of 1954, at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Julian Komar. The association took in all of the homes north of West Chicago. Six months earlier Mr. & Mrs. Ike Sarasin had formed the Bel Aire Woods Civic Association for those homes south of West Chicago, also in response to residents' complaints against the builders. Bel Air Woods homes had been built a year earlier than the Devonshire Park homes. These two groups were acknowledged as the most active civic voices in Livonia. In time these civic organizations would merge and absorb the older Grandon Woods and Cooper Civic Associations to serve Section 35 (bounded by Plymouth and Joy roads from Middlebelt to Merriman roads). The charter group became known as the Devon-Aire Woods Civic Association.

The 1950s were busy for the consolidated association including getting the homes finished, running polio shot clinics, voter assemblies, political debates and many social activities for adults and children. From these various activities the DAWCA Softball League emerged, founded by Mr. John Hanzek in 1958. At that time, the only diamond available was at the corner of Sunset and Robert Drive, it was just a vacant field. Nativity Church and the ice arena did not exist, only woods and the Jefferson School playground. The civic association, along with team sponsors, paid for the equipment and supplies necessary to start the league. A family membership in the association was the only registration fee required.

Over the next 20 years the league ran smoothly, able to cover its own costs to stay in operation. In the mid-1970s costs began to rise resulting in a small registration fee to help cover the added expenses. Fundraisers were also added to help defray costs and keep the league affordable for everyone. In 1979 an editorial in the "Town Crier" discussed the financial dilemma of the softball program. The league had only generated about 30% of required operational costs through player registrations. The association decided it was time for the softball program to become an independent organization. Initially it looked as though the softball program would fold due to the additional effort required to operate on its own and the need for additional volunteers, which were in short supply. In the early 1980s Eddie Lewandowski, along with a few of his close friends, bought the remaining softball equipment from the association and vowed to revive the league as a stand alone organization. A strong core of volunteers recruited sponsors, assessed reasonable fees and used the proceeds to purchase uniforms and trophies for every registered player. The word began to spread and the league began to flourish on its own.

58th Anniversary

Over the years there have been many different variations of the League including—Women’s and Men’s Adult teams playing on Sunday’s at Ford Field (Farmington Road), Senior Girl’s teams playing in the Livonia Parks & Rec League, and in 1973 an All-Star Girls team that played in an outside softball tournament. In 1986 Larry Harrigan (Merri-Craft Florist) and Steve Trudell added the Senior Co-Ed Division (13-18 year olds) to accommodate the number of kids moving up from the Junior Division (7-12 year olds) who still wanted to play. Larry and his wife Kathy, owners of Merri-Craft Florist, are still avid supporters of the league and celebrated their 30th year as a team sponsor in 2013!

As the caliber of player skill increased within the age groups, so did the competitiveness of the games. The league continued to stress that their primary mission was to emphasize the instructional and recreational nature of the league. Learning how to play and practice good sportsmanship in a fun and competitive environment was the league’s focus. The old adage, it’s not important who wins the game, but how the game is played has been the secret to the Devon-Aire Softball League’s success and longevity.

Present day, the league is structured as three divisions, playing Monday through Thursday on three fields adjacent to the Devon-Aire Ice Arena and next to Devonaire Community Church. Beginning in early May and running through the end of July our players, parents, coaches, managers and many neighborhood friends gather from 6:00—8:00 p.m. to participate in Livonia’s third largest league. While we are not the only Livonia subdivision league still around, our reputation as a fun league has given us the opportunity to welcome families from other subdivisions in Livonia, as well as other cities including Westland, Redford, Garden City, and even as far away as Canton.

Fifty-eight years after fledgling civic associations merged and formed a softball program many things have changed in our world, yet many things remain the same. Technology has enhanced our society in remarkable ways, but the basic elements of a community are still the same. Home buyers trying to finish their homes still argue with contractors, parents drag their kids to clinics for inoculations, political debates are common place and candidates still recognize that Section 35 carries the “swing vote” in our city. One obvious and welcome change has been the transition of former Devon-Aire players from young children to contributing adults as coaches, managers, sponsors and volunteers in our league. Their experiences as players left an indelible mark, so much so that they are again enjoying the camaraderie and family spirit of our league with their own children. New generations of players and coaches who understand our mission and embrace our tradition will help preserve what was initiated 58 years ago, maintain it in the present, and set the foundation for future generations to carry us forward.

CONGRATULATIONS TO EVERYONE IN OUR DEVON-AIRE SOFTBALL FAMILY !!
